10,000 ACRES BLACKENED BY FOREST FIRES

RUIN IS HEAVY THROUGHOUT THE CALIFORNIA AREA

SCORES OF OIL DERRICKS AND WORKERS HOMES LEVELLED
IN PATH OF FLAMES

STEVENSON, WASH., SAVED BY A
PROVIDENTIAL SHIFT OF WIND

Santa Paula, Cal., Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—Ten thousand acres of blackened land, scores of oil derricks and workers' homes lay in the wake of a forest fire sweeping forward in this region today.

After threatening the towns of Santa Paula and Ventura, as well as the rich Ventura oil fields, the fire was turned into mountainous sections near here last night by dying winds.

Despite the heartening turn, a force of 1,000 men was kept in the field to start back fires and to counteract any further wind changes.

The fire, which spread over a six mile front, had done $3,000,000 in damage and was responsible for the death of Charles Deen 25, volunteer fire fighter who was killed when his motor cycle struck a truck on a smoke filled road.

The destruction of 95 oil derricks and many workers' homes was accomplished shortly after the fire started near Santa Paula Mineral Springs and climbed the slopes of Sulphur mountain.

It was believed today that the fire had done considerable damage to the walnut crop in this district.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—Saved by shifting winds and desperate efforts of fire fighters, the little town of Stevenson, Wash., stood unscathed today in the middle of a blackened fire swept forest.

One of the fires, which have been raging for weeks in Washington and Oregon, converted late last night on the hamlet of 750 population and for hours it appeared the settlement was doomed.

Residents piled a few belongings into family motor cars and fled. Today they were back but found their way about town only with the aid of street lights, so dense was the smoke.

The fire raged down the wooded hillsides toward the town and reached within a mile and a half of the boundaries before a change in the wind veered it in another direction and enabled fire fighters to set back fires and save their homes.

A dozen or more ranch homes were destroyed on the ten miles front as the flames ate their way toward Stevenson but no casualties were reported.

Other settlements, however, were not so fortunate.

The Columbia River Timber company's hotel and general office building at Greenleaf was destroyed at a loss of $100,000 and the Mid-Columbia Lumber company near Carson—10 miles up the river—went up in smoke at a loss of $75,000.

Thirty-two families living near the Ryan-Allen mill, two miles north of the town, were ordered out when flames menaced the company's holdings. Fire crews with apparatus from Hood River, Ore., aided in saving the properties.

The fire that threatened the town of Estacada, Ore., was checked only after it had destroyed nine homes, a hotel and a school house and raced over a great timbered area.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—The Graf Zeppelin landed here at 7:18 A. M. today after a 27-hour tour of northern Germany with 22 passengers aboard.

JAMES 'SPEED' MURPHY, 'KING OF HOBOES,' DIES

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—James "Speed" Murphy, "king of the hobo," died last night of illness in the State University hospital here under the same circumstances he started life, among strangers.

For 50 years or more, Murphy has followed the open road, either as a hobo, an actor or a good samaritan to his wandering companions.

For the last 15 years, Murphy has been going up and down the country in a broken truck aiding the more unfortunate members of his clan.

RELIEF CORPS TO AID VICTIMS OF STORMS IN FRANCE

Paris, Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—Emergency relief corps were hastily organized here today to aid the victims of violent storms which swept all France during the last 24 hours and killed at least seven persons.

Scores were left homeless in the provinces as a result of the worst deluge which has struck the country in years. Telegraph and telephone communications were disrupted, trains were delayed, and shipping along the Mediterranean and in the English Channel was disorganized.

There was considerable damage in Paris but no casualties were reported. Property damage in the provinces amounted to many millions.

The worst known loss of life was suffered at Toulouse and environs where four persons were drowned when the rivers overflowed.

PEACOCK SITS QUIETLY AND HEARS EVIDENCE

NEW YORK STATE PROPOSES TO SEND HIM TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

DAPPER RADIO SALESMAN IS CHARGED WITH SLAYING WIFE AND BURNING BODY

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—Earl Francis Peacock sat quietly today and listened to an outline of the evidence New York state proposes to offer in an attempt to send him to the electric chair.

The dapper 22-year-old radio salesman, charged with killing his young wife, Dorothy, and then burning her body, lost some of his calm as District Attorney Frank H. Coyne described the killing, but became more confident as the defense revealed insanity will be pleaded to save him.

Peacock has been almost sneering in his attitude heretofore. But when Coyne outlined the case, told how the state would prove that Peacock held a mirror at his wife's mouth to be certain she was dead and told of the cremation, the young radio salesman seemed to wince.

Coyne told of Peacock's confession that he had wrapped a cord around his wife's throat as he started to take the body from the house, "because I was afraid the rain might reveal her."

Sydney A. Syme, chief of defense counsel, started outlining his case.

Syme said he will produce evidence to show "this boy was legally insane when he killed this girl." He said further the evidence would show that things which Peacock had learned about his wife made him insane at the time of the crime.

LA GUARDIA TO OPPOSE WALKER FOR N. Y. MAYOR

New York, Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—Congressman F. H. LaGuardia has earned the right at the polls to oppose Mayor James J. Walker for re-election next November. It will be a battle between two men holding scant sympathy for prohibition.

LaGuardia, on the face of returns from yesterday's primary election, overwhelmingly defeated William Bennett, his independent republican mayoralty rival. The congressman seemed to have won by at least 40,000 votes.

Mayor Walker was unopposed for the democratic re-nomination. Defeat of Bennett, an avowed dry, was hailed by LaGuardia supporters as a "wet" victory.

VARE CANDIDATES SWEEP PHILADELPHIA PRIMARY ELECTION

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—Candidates supported by the organization of Senator-Elect William S. Vare had a field day in yesterday's primary election. Vare candidates for minor offices smashed all opposition and today their mounting majorities ranged all the way from 3 to 1 to 4 to 1 over their opponents.

The democrats are seeking the income tax statistics of corporations granted increased tariff protection under the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill in an effort to show higher protection has been given to some industries not in need of it.

The republicans are expected to ask for tax returns of corporations not in a prosperous condition, in an attempt to prove the increases were needed.

St. Paul, Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—A bomb thrown from a passing motor car early today caused several hundred dollars damage to the Boulevards of Paris cafe, a popular night club here.

The eruption came at 1:30 a. m., accompanied by a severe trembling of the earth. The crater, which is 1,000 feet in diameter, spouted fire and ashes throughout the morning. The flames were visible for a great distance. The extent of damage was not estimated. Asama-Yama is 8,315 feet high.

ALBERT LEA STATE BANK IS CLOSED

Albert Lea, Minn., Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—The Albert Lea State bank was closed here today by order of the board of directors after Henry F. Wittmer, assistant cashier, was reported to have attempted suicide.

Wittmer was rushed to a hospital and placed under the care of Dr. Brannan, who declined to make statements on the condition of his patient or the nature of his injuries, if any, until a complete examination had been made.

The directors of the institution declared the bank had been closed because of poor paper, depleted reserves and withdrawals.

The bank had capital of $50,000, surplus of $50,000 and deposits of more than $800,000.

Wittmer also was city treasurer.

Gastonia Strikers on Trial for Murder

Three women and thirteen men strikers of Gastonia, North Carolina, who have been the central figures of much of the rioting that has been paramount throughout the mill section lately must again face trial for the murder of Chief of Police Anderholt. The mis-trial caused by one of the jurors going insane precipitated additional disorders which have turned the mill section of North Carolina into an armed camp with fresh outbreaks between anti-communists and strikers daily.

SAYS HE PASSED TOTAL OF $100,000 IN WORTHLESS CHECKS

Minneapolis, Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—Raymond E. Fox, one time of Milwaukee, who explained that he passed a string of assertedly worthless checks totaling, police believe, $100,000, "to get away from the wife," started an enforced one-year sabbatical vacation today free from marital cares.

Fox was sentenced to a year in the Hennepin county workhouse after he entered a guilty plea before Judge Mathias Baldwin to a charge of checking on a bank without funds.

"Yes, your honor, but there was a reason for that," Fox said when asked by Judge Baldwin if he had not encountered "check" troubles at Milwaukee in October, 1920, "I took that means of getting away from my wife."

LAST ENTRY IN LOG OF SHIP

CAPT. A. L. ANDERSON WRITES,
"WE CAN'T STAY UP MUCH LONGER"

Grand Haven, Mich., Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—The last entry in the log of the ill-fated gravel ship Andaste floated ashore yesterday.

Scribbled in pencil on a piece of board by Captain A. L. Anderson read:

"Worst storm I have ever seen. Can't stay up much longer. Hope to God we're saved. A. L. A."

Coast guardsmen investigating the lake tragedy which took the lives of 23 sailors identified Anderson's handwriting and agreed the message represented his latest gesture as the vessel sank.

Fourteen bodies have been recovered from the Andaste but a high sea made further search impossible today.

During the last few weeks the celebrated Irish dramatist has made several practice flights. When pressed for an explanation he finally admitted:

"Naturally I've done a bit of flying. Everyone flies nowadays; why not I? I have not quite fully decided whether I wish to become a regular qualified pilot yet, but heaven knows what I will decide to do one of these days."

CAMP NEARS CLOSE OF SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Registration for First Half of September Shows Total of 218 Cars

1929 SEASON REVIEWED

Park Board Considers Construction of Office Building Near Entrance

Tourists are made of stern stuff, it seems. Cool winds and yet cooler nights are no barrier to camp visitors at the Brainerd tourist camp. Although with the beginning of schools and colleges the number of cars at the camp were reduced to one-sixth of the total for August, the September registration still holds its own and promises at the present rate to exceed last year's September total.

The registration for the first half of September this year shows a total of 218 cars which registered at the camp. The heavy Labor Day registration accounts for a part of this total. From six to ten cars still use the camp daily, while the caretaker already is preparing for the 1930 season by erecting new lamp-posts, building additional tables, etc. A major improvement is under discussion by the Park Board which would provide for an office building nearer the entrance gate and separate from the main rest and recreation cottage in order to facilitate rapid and systematic registration of tourists and to reserve as an information booth.

With one or two more weeks of touring still unrecorded, the 1929 season record shows no appreciable variation over 1928. Last year 3268 cars were registered.

The 1929 figures up to September 16 total 3095 cars, as the following chart illustrates:

	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.	Season
No. of lunch cars	20	134	350	334	88	926
No. of overnight cars	28	237	555	899	130	2149
Total No. of cars	48	391	1205	1233	281	3055
Total No. of people	260	1290	4280	4305	727	10852
No. of out-of-state cars	11	152	468	453	50	1144

A detailed examination of the tourist record brings to light interesting facts concerning the number of out-of-state or "non-Minnesota" cars which patronize the camp. According to the chart, a total of 1144 out-of-state cars are on the books. This means that 36.9% of this year's cars travelled a minimum of 100 miles in Minnesota before they arrived in Brainerd. Moreover, since the great majority of out-of-state visitors come from Iowa, Illinois, Manitoba, etc., the average mileage minimum easily reaches the 300 mark. Thus over one-third of the tourists cross at least one-half of the state before they reach the Crow Wing county lake region. The merchant and banker readily sees the economic factors involved in these figures.

Five Canadian provinces and 31 states of the Union were represented at camp this season. Of these Iowa and Manitoba vied for high honors while Illinois placed third. The majority of cars from Manitoba come from Winnipeg, where the local camp is repeatedly and favorably advertised among the touring element. Complete figures for out-of-state registration during the season are:

Iowa 286 cars, Manitoba 253, Illinois 144, North Dakota 93, Wisconsin 77, South Dakota 41, Nebraska 37, Michigan 31, Missouri 31, Kansas 26, Ontario 19, Saskatchewan 18, Indiana 14, Ohio 14, Montana 12, California 10, Texas 5, Oklahoma 4, Washington State 4, Mississippi 3, New York 3, two each from Florida, New Jersey, Oregon, Wyoming, and Washington, D. C., and one each from Arizona, British Columbia, Idaho, Maryland, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Quebec, Rhode Island, and South Carolina.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

Sept. 17, 1904

Dr. Victor F. Rounds, a well known member of the medical profession in Brainerd and an honored citizen, died last night at his home on Tenth street North at 7:20 o'clock, after a lingering illness covering a period of six months. Bright's disease was the cause of the death and it was but a matter of time when the ailment made firm its hold on his system.

Mrs. M. J. Reilly has been re-elected to the position of vice-president of the state auxiliary of the A. O. H. The convention was held at Stillwater this week. Mrs. Mary B. Daily, of Minneapolis, was elected president. This comes as quite an honor to Mrs. Reilly, but a well deserved one as she is one of the most interested members of the order in the state. Brainerd people fared very well indeed at the A. O. H. convention. Dan Clark was elected vice-president of the order. Mr. Clark is one of the leading members of the state and has a large following. On the committees, H. P. Dunn was chairman of the committee on credentials of the order proper and J. J. Nolan was chairman of the credentials committee of the insurance branch and James J. Cullen was on the resolution committee.

The state auditor has sent out vouchers to the various counties in payment of bounties for killing wolves during the last few months. The total amount of the payments is $3,869, the largest amount being for Crow Wing county, which receives $781 for 105 wolves. Kittson county next with $607 for 126 wolves, and Carlton county next with $556 for seventy-six wolves. The amount of bounty paid is $7.50 for full grown wolves and $1 for cubs. This bounty is paid by the county treasurers, who report to the state auditor and the amount paid is then refunded by the state.

J. J. Cummins, who has been with Brainerd Lumber company for a long time, has taken a position on the road as inspector for the Mississippi River Valley Lumbermen's Association.

STOCK SIX STREAMS WITH 20,000 TROUT

Eighty Cans of Brook Trout Fingerlings Distributed to Streams in District

Six streams in the district were stocked yesterday with 20,000 brook trout fingerlings, a shipment received from the Gleggwood state hatchery by A. A. Weidemann of the Brainerd Game and Fish club.

Eighty cans containing 250 fingerlings in each can were distributed as follows: 15 cans in Spring Creek south, 20 cans in Whiteley's creek, 10 cans in Kramp's creek, three cans in Trout Lake, 12 cans in Meadow Spring and 20 cans in Home Brook.

Previously in the year 50 cans of brook trout fingerlings, each can containing 150 fingerlings, had been "dumped" in streams of the district and 25,000 bass fingerlings and nine million pike fry had been planted in lakes of the district.

The People Pay

THE people pay for experiments, for new ideas in popular government which hitherto untested and untried often hit the red in bookkeeping. The Fargo, N. D., Forum calls attention to the statement that "one more payment and North Dakota's industrial orchestra loses a piper" and continues:

One more payment and the financial waltz, written by Walter Thomas Mills, is ended, moonlight gone, moonshine of easy homes drained from the bottle, romance of possession an empty dream. Another year and the taxpayers are done with the Home Builders' Association blues, the crazy tune for which they have been paying a pretty penny these ten years the while they danced in fitful frenzy. One more deficit levy, this time for $19,972, and it is all over, the books balanced, the piper dismissed, only the headache occasioned by Mr. Mills' invitation to the home-building razzle-dazzle left. There still will be plenty of dancing, still two or three pipers to pay, but that is another story, as the lamented Mulvaney would say.

Ten years ago the Home Builders' Association bill had been on the statute books a few short months, an appropriation of $115,000 made, the scramble for homes under way. Within two years, the structure which Mr. Mills had erected, amid great promises, high hopes and the blare of trumpets, had crashed about the heads of the Frazier administration. It was a sure, swift failure, attended by all the irregularities, the patronage-giving and seeking that go with such paternalistic enterprises. There was nothing that could be done to rebuild it, not a stone left on which to rear a new edifice, for it was politically and economically unsound. The only thing to do was to clear away the wreckage, with such salvages as could be found. Only that and the long, tedious, exacting task of footing the bills.

Well, the business of paying has been going on for some time. In the first place, there was the appropriation of $115,000, wiped out in no time, irreparably lost to the state. There was the indebtedness to the Bank of North Dakota, which had reached $496,506.88 by 1924, to meet an indebtedness which has been greatly reduced by settlement of building projects. Then, there was the liquidation of the association, a task which has occasioned a deficit levy on the taxpayers for seven years, the first one being made in 1923. These levies already have cost the state $304,115.81, and $19,972 had to be added this year, making the total $324,087.81. With the $115,000 originally appropriated, this makes a grand total of $439,087.81, which the taxpayers will have lost on the industrial enterprise.

This is something to think about, ten years after Walter Thomas Mills sat in the House gallery at Bismarck, listening to an orchestra play, watching a motion picture cameraman grind out views of Lynn J. Frazier as he signed the Home Builders' Association bill. Tears streamed down the estimable Mills' cheeks as the act was approved, but they were nothing compared to the financial tears which the taxpayers have shed since he packed his knapsack and stole away to other fields.

The New Idea in Bank Banditry

BANK banditry, according to the many examples one reads in the papers, has shifted from hazardous night work with its nitro glycerin blasting of bank vault doors and boring of holes with acetylene torches, to a daylight job carried out with peculiar finesse and precision bespeaking the work of experts relying on exact information as to bank habits previously gained.

The bandits, according to the news stories, make their visits when a bank has accumulated the most cash. Most of the robberies appear to be committed between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock in the morning.

The Elk River bank was robbed near 10 o'clock, the Pequot bank after 10 o'clock. With all the money in sight and the bank opened for business, the bandits quickly grab the booty.

The officials of the State Bureau of Criminal Apprehension have come to the conclusion that an organized syndicate of bank robbers is responsible for perhaps a score of major robberies in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa in the past six weeks. Tactics of the bandits reveal a precision in methods and execution that leaves little if anything in the way of a clue.

As the bandits are revealing criminality of the highest type, so the law in combating them must use all possible resources to stem this crime wave.

Nowadays the course in some communities is for the people to sit back and say, "Well, the bank is insured. It's all right, nobody has lost any money."

True, bank and depositors have lost no money. But if the wave of bank robberies continues, the insurance companies will have to recoup by raising their insurance premiums and if no appreciable check is made in robberies, one can see where the rates will strike a high level.

It is in the interest of the public that every agency shall be employed to stop the bank robbing and to capture bandits. If one branch of crime flourishes, it produces a spread of criminality in other channels.

The Minnesota Bankers' Association has offered a reward of $500 per bandit for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bandits who robbed the Pequot bank on August 28. To get all three bandits behind prison bars will net a citizen $1,500. Any information, any clues found may be given the sheriff of Crow Wing county or the Minnesota Bankers' Association and will be held strictly confidential.

Filling Cracks

IN the old days the worker swept the paving with a stiff broom to get the gravel or dirt from the cracks preparatory to filling them with tar. Nowadays the State Highway department has a little gasoline engine pumping compressed air and the man in charge sprays the crack with a nozzle and soon loosens the dirt. All the crack filling equipment is carried on a truck where it is all neatly assembled and even the big smoking tar bucket is as neat as you can make it with not a drop escaping from its faucet, when not tapped.

One of the finest jobs in crack filling of paving was done by the men on the 13th street road. This paving was put in before people knew much about reinforcing and so has accumulated large cracks by its heaving.

PITCHING WILL DECIDE WORLD SERIES, SAY EXPERTS

GROVE, EARNSHAW IF RIGHT, WILL WIN THE SERIES

BIB FALK SHOWS HIS CONFIDENCE IN ATHLETIC PITCHING ACES

MALONE CONSIDERED CUBS' BEST BET, BUT CARLSON MAY GIVE TROUBLE

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Sept. 18.—Pitching will decide the world series between the Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Cubs in the opinion of many major league ball players.

"If Grove and Earnshaw are right they'll win the series single-handed for the Athletics," said Bib Falk, veteran American league outfielder who is playing with the Cleveland Indians this season after serving nine years with the Chicago White Sox.

Falk has played against the Cubs in several city series when he was with the White Sox and believes Pat Malone and Hal Carlson will prove the most effective pitchers on the Cubs' staff.

"Malone is the Cubs first bet but Carlson may give the Athletics plenty of trouble. He is a control pitcher and has a puzzling screw ball which may baffle the Athletics in a short series."

Bucky Harris, manager of the Detroit Tigers, expects Lefty Grove to be the star of the series.

"In a world series, Grove, with all his speed should prove invincible," Harris said, "if Grove can't beat the Cubs, I don't know who can."

The theory that Grove will have trouble pitching to eight or nine right-handed hitters in the Cubs' batting order is minimized by Wesley Ferrell, Cleveland rookie pitcher who has won 18 games in his first season in the major leagues.

"The Cubs have a lot of dangerous hitters but the fact that most of them swing from the right side will not prove a big handicap to Grove in my opinion. If Grove has his control, I don't see how the Cubs can beat him."

As for the Athletics' hitters, Ferrell thinks that they have the toughest batting order in the American league to face with Cochrane, Simmons, Fox, Miller and Dykes in the lineup.

Speculating on the probable world series pitchers, popular opinion favors Earnshaw and Malone to oppose each other in the first game and Grove and Carlson or Bush to start the second game.

"If Grove and Earnshaw win their first games, I believe Connie will pitch Walberg in the third game," said Falk. "Walberg is of the nervous type, but if he can steady himself he is likely to prove just as effective as Grove."

If they divide the first two games,

FACTORY WHISTLES TOOT AS CONQUEROR OF BOBBY JONES RETURNS

MAYOR AND SEVERAL THOUSAND OTHER ADMIRERS, GREET HIM

By RAY BRENNAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Sept. 18.—St. Paul donned golf knickers, closed up shop and opened the factory whistles today to welcome home its bashful champion—Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, conqueror of Bobby Jones and king of the nation's amateurs.

The mayor and several thousand other admirers, all in knickers, planned to ride to the Union terminal to greet the new golf champion, but Jimmy was scheduled to ride to his official welcome at Rice park.

A squad of looping airplanes will precede him from overhead, but the rest of St. Paul, and much of Minnesota, will walk behind. The city council, a dozen bands and several hundred caddies, all of whom claim the honor of having carried the champion's clubs, will form only a part of the parade.

Governor Theodore Christianson and the mayors of Minneapolis and Duluth will be among the guest speakers at the welcome, and then Jimmy and Mrs. Johnston will be spirited away to a dinner tendered by the White Bear Yacht Club, under whose colors Johnston won several major tournaments.

Friends will have no claim on Jimmy until the public has tendered its Lindberghian reception, the committee in charge announced. But two persons, their little son and daughter, will give the personal touch to Mr. and Mrs. Johnston's welcome.

If the Cubs were to lose all their remaining games and the second place Pirates won all theirs, the pennant still would be Chicago's.

BIG TEN FOOTBALL TEAMS SOON SETTLING INTO RIGOROUS TRAINING FOR SEASON

WESTERN CONFERENCE RULES DELAY START OF PRACTICE UNTIL LAST MONDAY

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Sept. 18.—(U.P.)—Engaged now in learning the fundamentals, Big Ten football teams within the next few days will settle into rigorous training for the 1929 season.

Compelled to await the start of practice until last Monday because of western conference rules, the teams are undergoing the lighter practice details this week and probably won't get into real hard work until next Monday.

The early practices, combined with the spring training of this year, have given most of the coaches a line on what they can expect from their candidates.

At Illinois, Coach Bob Zuppke was delighted with the showing of several youngsters. Art Schults, the fifth of a family of fine athletes looked like a real prospect as a fullback. Pete Vanuskus another sophomore also appeared to be a fine prospect as did Irwin, a sub last year who has promise as a quarterback.

Coach Kipke in his first year in Michigan appears to have a great nucleus to build around. He has ten lettermen of last year and a wealth of new material. Extremely bright prospects have appeared in Tom Roach, 190-pound sophomore tackle. So far the Wolverine line has averaged nearly 195 pounds, while the backfield has scaled approximately 165 pounds.

Two other teams which appear to be contenders for the title too are pleased with prospects, Doc Spears at Minnesota was greeted by a squad of 100 men. Spears divided the squad into a dozen or more teams for the early practices while he sought to pick out a quarterback to fill the place left vacant by Fred Hovde. At least three men are competing for Hovde's old played.

position. They are Bardwell, Brockmeyer and Leksella.

At Wisconsin, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite was working with approximately 60 men. "Gloomy Glen" was delighted to find several good kickers. Those who showed possibilities are Russ Rehholz, Bill Lusby, Tury Oman, and Mike Halperin.

Most of the other teams were concerned with the building of material from the sophomore candidates.

(By United Press)

Yesterday's Hero—Eddie Moore and Johnny Morrison, Brooklyn players recruited from the minor leagues in mid-season who prevented the Chicago Cubs from clinching the National league pennant. Moore singled in the ninth inning of the first game driving a two runs which enabled the Robins to win, 8 to 7. Morrison relieved Ray Ions with the score tied 5 to 5 in the second game and held the Cubs safe while the Robins went on to win, 9 to 6.

The Pittsburgh Pirates hammered out an 11 to 7 victory over the Phillies, scoring eight runs in the seventh inning.

Sad Sam Jones held Detroit to one run and Washington beat the Tigers, 4 to 1. Sam West had a perfect day at bat, getting a double and two singles in three trips.

The Boston Red Sox beat the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 4.

No other major league games were played.

KASCH'S SQUAD NOW NUMBERS 56; WORK IN FOUR DIVISIONS

REMARKABLE ADVANCE IN FOOTBALL INTEREST MADE SINCE COACH KASCH CAME

STAPLES AND BRAINERD TO LINEUP IN FIRST GAME OF SEASON FRIDAY AT STAPLES

Football has come into its own in the Brainerd high school. Three years ago 18 aspirants turned out to form the Brainerd charges. This year 56 ambitious young bloods are fighting for positions on the team.

This remarkable change has been brought by the conscientious efforts of Coach Warren E. Kasch who has instilled a new spirit into athletics at the Brainerd high.

Four divisions make up the squad this year. The regulars receive daily instruction from Coach Kasch who also finds time to give attention to the reserves, sophomores and freshmen. The system introduced by Kasch makes it possible for the high to have a new squad of grid men coming into the ranks each year, seasoned players who will be able to step into the shoes of seniors seeing their last year of high school football.

Through the valuable aid of Assistant Coach Melby and volunteer coaches, stars of former years, each grid candidate is receiving individual attention to better his game. The assistants are concentrating in improvement in tackling, line work and backfield.

The locals will be off Friday for Staples where they play their first game of the season starting at 3 p. m. Brainerd won 19-0 from Staples two years ago and lost 6-0 to Staples here last year when Staples intercepted a pass and converted it into a touchdown.

The two teams will enter the game Friday without odds.

Modernizing Starts With the Interior of the Residence

MARKED CHANGES POSSIBLE IN THE AVERAGE HOUSE

Interior Decorating Is One Phase of Effort

The Home Modernizing Movement is calculated to improve the home both inside and out. Remodeling may be necessary in many cases where the exterior of the residence still bears the stamp of the architecture of twenty years ago. Yet modernizing rather than the more limited remodeling is the aim of this campaign.

Modernization is an all embracing word. Your home may have the modern lines that are now in vogue yet contain many accessories that are out of date or the home may be lacking in those conveniences that have recently come into such generally accepted use.

Livability of Home Depends on Modernization

Home modernizing really starts with the interior of the home. It is here that the home life functions and it is only right that the home be equipped with the newly devised equipment that makes living so worthwhile.

Even though the exterior lines of the dwelling be smartly up to date, now is the time to thoughtfully consider the interior to see if you are receiving full satisfaction from it.

Marked changes are possible in the average house. The layout of the rooms is often inconvenient and unsatisfactory. Certain rooms may need enlarging or alterations. A lack of closets is a handicap to the housekeeper. The stairs to the upper floor may be inaccessible or narrow.

Styles Change in Furnishings
Consider also the furnishings of the home. Styles change in furniture and the parlor set of fifteen years ago is now out of date. Carpets, covering the entire floor, were necessary in the days of soft wood but nowadays have been discarded in favor of rugs. Chinese or Oriental rugs may be beyond the limits of the family purse, but domestic rugs of similar pattern and most artistic are available today.

The arrangement of the furniture is new. Years ago the chairs and tables were placed along the walls with stiff formality, but now they are scattered around the rooms in a studied disarray. A cozy, homey atmosphere is secured which is not possible with the more formal arrangement.

New home accessories are constantly being placed on the market. While the average home can purchase furniture at infrequent intervals, new effects can be secured by frequent changes of lamp shades, curtains and drapes, table covers, cushions and the like. It is possible to keep abreast of the times with these moderate priced accessories which make the home always bright and fresh.

New Types of Wall Decorations
Changes in wall decorations are also another angle of home modernizing. Lately canvases covered walls, painted with several coats of flat paint, have been popular. The standard wall paper, however, comes out each year with new designs and color effects and will always remain in vogue.

Many newly constructed homes use no wall covering, the plaster being tinted and finished in a rough yet striking texture.

Plastic paints with which effects in modified texture can be achieved give a finish half way between the smooth plaster and the very rough textured effects. The resulting finish has been described as combining the restraint of the untextured painted wall with the distinction of hard worked plaster. It is universally suitable for the decoration of side walls.

THIS HANDSOME BUNGALOW ONCE A GRIMY COTTAGE

The sweeping roof lines and attractive entry-way of this bungalow speaks of up-to-date architecture. No one would suspect that it was modernized from the weather-beaten single story house shown below at the left.

You would have to hire a fastidious person to live in this old-timer. Yet when modernized its owners were the envy of the neighborhood. Look above and see what happened!

Modernized Cottage Is Now a Smart Looking Bungalow

Sweeping Lines Enhance Beauty of Dwelling

After contrasting the two houses shown on this page, doubting Thomases who believe that they are not the same are invited to cast an eagle eye at the house next door, found at the right in each picture.

That the house next door is the same is plainly evident by the group of three windows, and the gable end. The points of contact are evident and prove that these before and after illustrations show what modernization means to the exterior lines of a house.

Once a Lowly Cottage
The smart-looking bungalow at the top of the page was once the lowly cottage shown below it. The sweeping roof lines and arched entrance reveal the spirit of today—a far cry from the ginger-bread adorned architecture of the early nineties.

When the owner of the cottage decided to invest in modernization, he instructed the contractor, first of all, to get rid of the old fashioned front porch with its ugly trimming.

In its place he devised a plain little entry way covered by an extension of the roof which sweeps down in a fascinating curve. An arched entrance with a shingled column supports the extremity of the roof.

Stained Shingles Used
The plain clap-board of the older structure has been superceded by the shingle sides which add so much to the homey intimate atmosphere of this bungalow. Incidentally stained shingles, stucco, or brick veneer are popular sidings for small houses and permit effective color schemes.

A ventilator with horizontal louvers allows the entrance of air into the attic, insuring a draft in hot summer weather so that heated air will not accumulate and warm the rooms below.

The large fixed bay window that lighted the front room of the house was torn away when the building was modernized. A broad opening filled with two sliding windows now occupies the place. Quaintly paneled wooden shutters flank each window opening at the front. Shutters of this type are usually distinctive and aid in setting the house apart from its neighbors.

Interior Also Modern

The interior of the house is as modern as its exterior. The various rooms of the bungalow have been made up-to-date and every convenience that will add to the comfort and convenience of the occupants is found.

Like most old houses soft wood floors had been used in each room. These floors were relaid with hardwood and waxed to bring out their rich effects.

Electrical outlets are found in each room so that floor lamps can be used without cords reaching to the center cluster of hanging lights as was necessary before modernization. The fixtures of the center cluster of lights has been made smartly up-to-date, the old fashioned combination gas and electric fixtures being discarded.

A new heating plant in the basement, a modern appearing tub and shower in the bath, a colored gas range and electric refrigerator in the kitchen comprise a few of the touches of modernization that came when the old place was made up to date.

Experiences of this owner are not unique. Hundreds upon hundreds of dwellings just as hopeless looking have been made up to the minute when modernized.

SUSPECT PRISONER OF M. & I. DERAILEMENT

O. E. Thomas, Stillwater Inmate, Accused of Derailing Passenger Train Near Hackensack

TRACED BY STOLEN TOOLS

Agents Work on Theory That Man Derailed Train for a Thrill

Finding of Northern Pacific tools in the personal belongings of O. E. Thomas, now serving a one to ten year sentence at Stillwater for a statutory offence, has led Northern Pacific special agents to believe that the Stillwater inmate caused the derailment of the Minnesota and International railway passenger train one mile north of Hackensack on November 4, 1928.

The tools have been identified as part of a group stolen from a Walker tool house of the Northern Pacific railway. A wrenching bar and wrench, identified as stolen from Walker, were found near the torn up track which caused the derailment of the engine, tender, baggage car and front trucks of the first passenger coach.

Special N. P. Officer Carl Jacobson and Inspector G. S. Hindman have been conducting the investigation at Hackensack since Art Billman, drayman there, reported finding a Northern Pacific adz wrapped up in a lineoleum while transporting the belongings of Thomas from his home near Hackensack to Hackensack for sale by auction.

A reward of $500 had been posted by M. and I. officials for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party causing the derailment.

O. Perryhus, chief special agent for the N. P. is at Stillwater prison today questioning Thomas. Indictment by the grand jury will be asked later.

Thomas was sentenced to Stillwater on the statutory charge from Walker three weeks ago.

Agents are working on the case in the theory that Thomas derailed the train for a thrill. Several hundred detective story magazines were found in his belongings.

The adz found by the drayman has been identified as about two weeks stolen at Walker to the derailment. Two rails taken from the track caused the derailment. No one was injured.

At that time 15 suspects were rounded up, questioned, and later released.

EDISON PICKS LOWEY FOR EASTERN TECH.

Brainerd Boy Accepts Scholarship at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J.

LEAVES IN FEW DAYS

Will Also be Eligible Without Prerequisite for Regularly Endowed College Scholarships

Thomas J. Edison, inventive genius, has honored John Lowey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Lowey, North Fourth street, by selecting him for a scholarship offered by the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J.

Young Lowey has wired Mr. Edison his pleasure in accepting the scholarship and received in return a wire of congratulations from the president of the college.

John will leave Brainerd within a few days to enter the eastern school.

The scholarship offer was made in the following telegram to John Lowey from F. R. Schell, secretary to Mr. Edison at West Orange, N. J.:

"Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J., offers 'Free tuition for the freshman year to a qualified student who shall have been nominated by you (Mr. Edison) from among those who competed for the recently awarded Edison scholarship. The value of the scholarship applicable to the payment of the year's tuition including the summer camp is six hundred dollars. Although our commitment is for the first year only we anticipate that a student coming to us in this way will be capable of earning other concessions or scholarships in his later years. He will enter under the sliding scale tuition plan which gives automatically a monetary value to exceptional attainments in college. In addition he will be eligible without prejudice for the regularly endowed scholarships of the college.' If you wish to accept this scholarship Mr. Edison will nominate you. Wire reply."

Following Mr. Lowey's wire of acceptance, he received the following wire from Harvey N. Davis, president of the Stevens Institute of Technology:

"Much pleased to hear from Mr. Edison that you have accepted tuition scholarship value six hundred dollars for freshman year at Stevens Institute of Technology. Extend hearty congratulations. Orientation week for freshman begins today. Recommend

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORY OF TODAY

Resembling an enemy squadron attack formation by air, four mystery birds soared over Brainerd this morning, swooped down in the business district and all but skimmed the tops of the buildings.

Each of the birds had a wing spread of more than six feet, it appeared from observation. The birds were believed to be eagles.

"When I recollect the treasure of friendship that has been bestowed upon me, I withdraw all charges against life," said Mark Twain, according to the American Magazine.

MEETINGS CONTINUE

Revival Services at Full Gospel Assembly Draws Large Attendance

The Full Gospel Assembly revival services continue to draw good crowds, the church building was well filled again last night while Rev. Jackson brought a message from Exodus 3:14, "The Great I Am."

He stated that a great many professors of religion and even Christians were serving the Great I Was. He said however that if folk would surrender their all to the Lord and live clean, holy lives that they would find that God is still the Great I Am today.

At the close of the service a number were prayed for, for the healing of their bodies.

The meeting will continue each night at 8 o'clock, the Friday evening service will be especially for young people.

Blue Blood And Red

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

EDDIE REGAN, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped to Virginia, where he meets Marian Thorndike. He forgets the "gang girl," Bernice Veressi, whom he once thought himself in love with, in his dreams of Marian. Penfield Partridge, last member of an aristocratic Southern family, whom Eddie befriended, dies and leaves Eddie all his possessions. Eddie declares his love to Marian, but she discourages him. She comes to his house one night when she is thrown from her horse, where she is found by Tom Freeman, to whom she is engaged, who takes her home. When Eddie calls at Marian's home, Freeman is there, and tells Eddie to stay away from Marian. To be, the negro servant, who is part of Eddie's "inheritance," tells Eddie that Miss Marian is acting mean to Freeman and had refused to go to a dance with him.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XXI.

AFTER all, she had not forbidden him to come. Nor had her father—directly. The knowledge that he was not wanted by Mr. Thorndike stung him, but the urge to look on her face again was stronger than pride. When, again, he hitched his horse to the tree in her yard and presented himself at the door his heart was beating with a strong, adventurous rhythm.

"She's upstairs," the negro woman who answered the bell said. "Wait 'till you come in while I call her."

But the broad veranda with its wicker chairs and moonlight everywhere was so alluring that Eddie wanted to stay outside.

"I'll wait here," he said. The servant retired and he dropped into a chair, lighting a cigarette. Inside the house he thought he heard a man's voice and a moment later he was sure of it.

Tom Freeman came out and confronted him. Immediately Eddie got to his feet.

"Well, I see you are here again," Freeman said, coming close to him. They were so near that Eddie could detect the faint aroma of liquor on Freeman's breath. Still the man seemed perfectly sober. "I thought I told you to keep away from this place."

Eddie's voice froze. "Yes?" "You are not wanted here and you ought to have the good sense to know it," Freeman told him. "You said that the other time—but nobody else has told me the same thing."

"I am telling you now for the last time. You can untie that nag of yours and drive right back where you came from."

"I will do that little thing," Eddie informed him, "when I get damn good and ready."

"You'll do it now!" "Yes?" "Right now," Freeman said. His heavy hand fell on Eddie's shoulder, his fingers clutched in the fabric of his coat and he started to pull Eddie in the direction of the veranda stairs. Like a square stone swiftly flung Eddie's left fist hooked upward and smacked solidly on a broad, protruding chin.

It was a punch he had developed in a dozen New York scraps. By itself the blow might not have been sufficient to damage Tom Freeman, but a right hook rapidly thrown reached the jaw. Two such blows threw the enemy back against the house. For a moment and startled, stepped between them. Eddie fell back a step or two and Tom Freeman wiped his face with a handkerchief. It had ended—as suddenly as it had started.

"You get yourself the hell out of here," Freeman spoke passionately from his thick throat to Eddie.

"Not on your invitation!" Eddie flung back.

The girl looked at them both without discernible favoritism. "don't know what the idea is," she said, quietly, "but I'm not at all flattered. I'm disgusted with both of you."

Eddie felt a flush of humiliation but he was not able, immediately, to steady his senses. In the few seconds of savage combat he had reached a keyed-up vigor that was wildly, gloriously primitive. Sur-

"Just a moment, please!" said Marion.

step inside a swinging blow. Freeman's fist struck heavily but with glancing force above the ear and there was a reverberating shock inside his head. If he was to maintain himself, Eddie realized, he couldn't take many such bludgeoning wallopers. Freeman had too much weight, too much strength, for a straight-out slugging match. With the shortest possible delay, Eddie knew, he would have to get in a haymaker—a smashing knock down blow on the chin—on the button.

"Just a moment, please!" A voice came to them clear, swift, decisive. Marian Thorndike had appeared suddenly on the veranda. Her very presence was a prohibition against the mad, primitive business of battling with the intent fury of Stone Age warriors. Each man, suddenly, dropped his hands. Their whirling, hammering strife was a man's business—they had no mental preparation to deal with the restraining influence of a woman projected suddenly on to their battleground. Marian, fair-face civilization had dropped away from him and he had waged with an ancient instinct to destroy. His breath still came heavy while his head was ringing yet from the heavy blow he had withstood.

"If you'd leave us alone, Marian, I'd keep him off the place—or break his neck," Tom Freeman told her, harshly. "Your father doesn't want him around. It's an insult for a piece of trash like him to hang around you." Level eyed, she repelled his anger.

"I'm capable of deciding all that," she said.

The flush on Tom Freeman's face deepened. Here in the presence of a stranger he despised and abominated, Marian Thorndike, apparently, was taking sides against him. A vein in his neck swelled. "If your father was here—" he stopped, inarticulate.

"I'm quite capable of deciding who my own guests shall be," she told him steadily.
